State of Ohio & IBM

The State of Ohio and IBM have been partnering since 2013 on a cloud initiative with great success. The savings to the state are 9 figures in the first years along with reducing the carbon footprint of the data center. This cloud partnership has also improved the security profile as well as provided greater agility in responding to agency leaders and elected officials requests and needs. It has created a premiere "21st century" platform which allows maximum flexibility and minimal disruption while incorporating new technologies in running the business of government for the State of Ohio.
